co-packaging services

In today's highly competitive and ever-changing consumer marketplace, your sales and marketing dollars must stretch farther than ever before. Changes in consumer buying habits and product trends provide manufacturers, wholesalers and retailers with new opportunities for increased sales.

Our scalable and flexible value-added packaging and integrated fulfillment systems allow us to readily manage rework projects and new product launches to support local, regional or national product-based marketing campaigns.

By offering our customers the convenience, accountability and efficiency of working with a single-source provider, our customers are able to reduce the time and costs of managing multiple suppliers, inventory sources and assembly partners.
